

Adversary Archetype

Basic

It is a mining company, with branches in the country, but it is a foreign company, a multinational, that exploits mineral resources.

They have national employees and a company with a structure in the country.

Technical Capabilities

They hire people with technical expertise to investigate the digital profiles of environmental activists. They use fake profiles on social networks to attack them. They have done these practices in other countries so they know how to develop them.

Targets

They are environmental defenders in the areas where they work.

They are also journalists and environmental organizations that expose the work being done by the mining company.

Favored Means of Attack

Basic phishing and spoofing through fake accounts.

Bullying through fake accounts.

Attempts to hack pages, emails and social networks.

Reports of content in social networks.

Intimidating calls, messages and visits.

Motivation

La motivación es económica. El tipo de denuncias que realizan los activistas ecologistas impiden que hagan su trabajo. Ponen acciones judiciales que detienen su trabajo y actividad económica.

Resources

They have financial resources that they use to hire specialists to attack people who affect the integrity of activists. They also use legal actions, when working together with the government. They use intimidation by hiring people to make physical threats to those who affect the company's work.

Constraints & Limitations

The way in which this type of attacker has been stopped is to document all the practices they have against the law, to make them public. Denounce through social networks.

It is unknown what kind of infrastructure they use.

Intent

The adversary tries to stop the actions of activists, journalists, environmental and human rights defenders.

In addition, they try to obtain all the information that could affect their work.
