

Feminist journalist

Background

She is a communicator who has worked with women all her life, doing radio and telling their stories. She has been persecuted for disseminating information on sexual and reproductive rights, presenting reports against violence and machismo. She is of another nationality and arrived in Ecuador more than 20 years ago.

Goals

- Empower women to claim their rights.
- Build alternative discourses and disseminate them to denounce facts and violence against women.
- To have a safe digital space, free from sexist threats or misogynist content.

Threats

- "If you're a woman, you should be in the kitchen, or taking care of your kids."
- Threats from trolls on social networks, or sexist comments or deletion of content.
- Identity theft.
- Financial fraud.
- Hacking.

Strengths

- Contact with cyberfeminist organizations that work in digital security and are always recommending security tips.
- Concern about digital threats.
- Implementation of secure communication by Signal.

Questions

- How do I know if my cell phone is tapped?
- Are my email communications secure?
- How do I deal with gender-based violence?
